

Are your deliveries a critical mission?

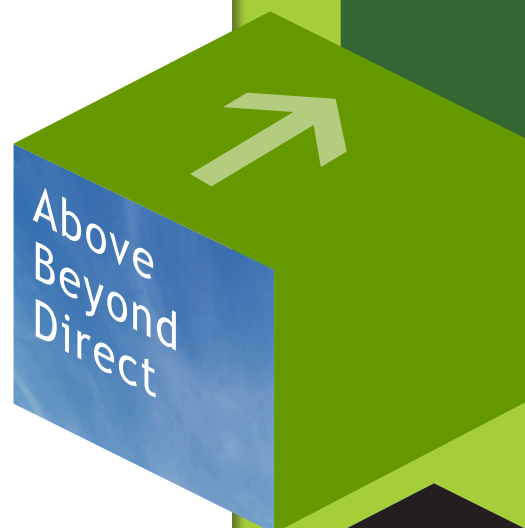

Our mission is to get your consignments safely to their destination on time.

We are a full-service domestic and international distribution company. Our business is global delivery that's cost-effective, time efficient and reliable. We work in partnership with our customers to provide the best service for each consignment, giving equal regard to both urgency and budget.

Based at Heathrow Airport since 1998, we are one of the most innovative and progressive distribution businesses in London. Our success is founded on providing excellent service to our customers and being professional, flexible and accessible.

"Many courier services claim to be competitive on price but, from all our research and experiences with other firms, we would definitely say that the high quality of customer service and the firm's close attention to detail set Mission Express head and shoulders above the rest."
